Data Privacy Statement

Thank you for your interest in the Technische Universität Berlin (TU Berlin) website. The protection of the personal data of visitors to the TU Berlin website is very important to us. We therefore would like to inform you about data privacy for websites under *.tu.berlin.

Subject of data privacy

Data privacy addresses issues concerning personal data. According to Article 4 no. 1 of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), these are data referring to an identified or identifiable individual, in other words all data which could be used to identify you. This applies to data such as your name, private address, email address, and telephone number but also to usage data such as your IP address.

As a matter of course Technische Universität Berlin observes the legal requirements of data privacy and other applicable regulations.

Data Privacy Statement

Thank you for your interest in the Technische Universität Berlin (TU Berlin) website. The protection of the personal data of visitors to the TU Berlin website is very important to us. We therefore would like to inform you about data privacy at our university.

Subject of data privacy

We are committed to ensuring that you can trust us concerning your personal data. For this reason transfers of personal or sensitive data are encrypted. In addition, our websites are protected by technical measures against damage or unauthorized access.

General data privacy

1. When you visit the TU Berlin website or download data from its web pages, the following information is saved in a log file:
 - IP address of your device,
 - the date and time you accessed the site,
 - the web page you visited or name of the downloaded file,
 - the amount of transferred data,
 - the "user agent-string" of your web browser,
 - the website from which you were referred to the current web page or file and
 - a status notification of successful or unsuccessful access.

Non-depersonalized data will be deleted after two weeks and will not be stored. This data will only be used for non-commercial purposes: It will only be reviewed manually if necessary for error analysis, optimization or investigation of misuse or performance issues.

This represents a legitimate interest within the meaning of Art. 6 (1) lit. f EU-DSGVO. A right of objection according to Art. 21 EU-DSGVO is not possible due to lack of technical feasibility.

2. In order to protect your transmitted data as best as possible, we use SSL encryption for any data transmission. You can recognize such encrypted connections by the prefix "https://" in the page link in the address line or by

All data that you transmit to this website - for example when making inquiries or logging in - cannot be read by third parties thanks to SSL encryption..

3. Cookies are often additionally used for data collection and storage. Cookies are small data packets consisting of text that are stored by your web browser when you call up a website.

Cookies are used by us to enable you to make optimal use of the websites. They are never used to track personal user actions or for behavioral analysis. They are only used where they are technically necessary or more useful than other techniques (in the sense of Art. 6 para. 1 lit. f EU-DSGVO): to record your login status, your consent to the display of external content (opt-in) and your deactivation of cookie-less Matomo tracking (opt-out). As a result, the use of the websites is mainly possible without the use of cookies. However, for functions or pages that require a login or password, cookies are technically necessary.

We use temporary and permanent cookies. Temporary cookies (also known as session cookies) are automatically deleted when you close your web browser. Permanent cookies, on the other hand, have a set lifetime. You can set your web browser to delete cookies that have already been placed.

3. Additionally, we employ cookies for data collection and storage. Cookies are small data packets consisting of text and are stored by your web browser when you visit a website. They cause no harm to your device – cookies neither contain viruses nor do they enable us to spy on or monitor you. We employ two types of cookies: session cookies and permanent cookies. Session cookies are deleted when you close your web browser. Permanent cookies have a maximum life time – in our case up to one day.

We use cookies to make our website more user-friendly. These cookies are not used to trace personal user activities or analyze users' behavior. They are only used where technically required or where more useful than other technologies: to record your login status, your consent to display external content (opt in), and your deactivation of cookie-free Matomo tracking (opt-out).

It is possible to use the website without cookies. However, they are necessary for features or pages requiring a login. You can configure your web browser to delete stored cookies.

Scope of data collection and storage

For information about how we handle personal traffic data, please refer to the “General data policy” section and the section on “Usage data”

4. In order to best protect your transmitted data, we use SSL encryption for all data transmission. Such encrypted connections can be identified by the prefix “https://” in the URL located in your browser’s address line. Unencrypted pages are identified by “http://”. The SSL encryption ensures that all data you transmit to this website – for instance when submitting inquiries or logging in – cannot be read by third-parties.

Scope of data collection and storage

For information about how we handle personal traffic data, please refer to the “General data policy” section (see above, regarding login data and cookies) and the section on “Usage data” (below, further information about cookies and using Mamoto).

In most cases, the active communication of your personal data is not necessary to use our website.

In some cases, personal data is required in order for TU Berlin to fulfill requested services. This applies especially for replying to email inquiries, the provision of special services or applications.

If you request us to provide a service, we will only collect and store your personal data to the extent necessary to provide the service.

In some exceptions, for example for event registrations, you will be asked whether your data can be stored beyond the event date in General data policy section and the section on Usage data.

The active communication of your personal data is not required for the use of our websites - in order for TU Berlin to fulfill its service mandate, however, we require personal data in individual cases, the processing of which is carried out in accordance with Art. 6 (1) lit. a EU-DSGVO. This applies in particular to answering individual e-mail inquiries or ordering special services.

If you commission us to provide a service, we will generally only collect and store your personal data to the extent necessary for the provision of the service.

In exceptional cases, e.g. in the context of event registrations, you will be asked whether your data may be stored for the purpose of providing information on similar events that go beyond pure event management. In this case, your consent is voluntary; refusal will not result in any disadvantages for you.

At the TU Berlin, mailing lists are used as an instrument for the targeted distribution of information. If you have subscribed to one of our mailing lists with your e-mail address or have given your consent for this, we will use your e-mail address to inform you about important and new information until you unsubscribe or are removed from the list.

You can revoke your consent at any time and without giving reasons and request the deletion of your data. You can request the latter by sending an e-mail to the institution holding the data.

Collection and storage of usage data

Log data

To optimize our website, we store data such as the IP address of your device, the page accessed, the date and time of the page access, the page from which you accessed our site.

This data is held for error handling and to detect misuse attempts, automatically deleted after two weeks and not archived; permanent storage is excluded. This represents a legitimate interest within the meaning of Art. 6 para. 1 lit. f EU-DSGVO. A right of objection according to Art. 21 EU-DSGVO is not possible asked whether your data can be stored beyond the event date in order to inform you of similar events. No disadvantages result if you decline this request.

You can revoke your consent at any time without giving reasons and demand the deletion of your data. To have your data deleted, please send an email to our data privacy team.

TU Berlin offers you the option to subscribe to mailing lists to receive targeted information. If you subscribe to one of our mailing lists, we will only use your email address to inform you of important updates and news until you unsubscribe.

Collection and storage of usage data

For the optimization of our website we collect and store data, such as web page visited, date and time of access, the website which you are coming from and so on.

This data is retained for error handling and to detect attempts at misuse. It is automatically deleted after two weeks and not stored. Permanent storage is excluded.

Chat

A chat reference service is used on selected pages at <https://www.tu.berlin/ub/web/20211026021851/https://www.tu.berlin/en/ub/> . This is based on the LibraryH3lp [https://web.archive.org/web/20211026021851/https://libraryh3lp.com/] service. The chat requests are transmitted to servers within the EU and thus in the spatial application area of the EU-DSVGO and logged there for quality assurance. The personal data contained therein (i.e. the IP address of your terminal device) is automatically anonymized on a daily basis.

A data transmission takes place only with your consent by your active start of the chat in terms of Art. 6 para. 1 lit. a EU-DSGVO. When starting a chat, a session cookie is set, which is used to decide whether the hint popup for the chat is activated or not.

The logs of chat requests are deleted once a day by the University Library (UB). If your request cannot be answered, it will be forwarded via internal mail to other members of the chat team only in consultation with you.

Chat

Auf ausgewählten Seiten unter www.tu.berlin/ub/ wird [https://web.archive.org/web/20211026021851/https://www.tu.berlin/ub/ wird ein Chat-Auskunftsdienst eingesetzt. Dieser basiert auf dem Angebot von LibraryH3lp. Die Chat-Anfragen werden an Server innerhalb der EU und damit im räumlichen Anwendungsraum der EU-DSVGO übertragen und dort zur Qualitätssicherung protokolliert. Die darin enthaltenen persönlichen Daten (d.h. die IP-Adresse Ihres Endgerätes) werden täglich automatisch anonymisiert.

Eine Datenübertragung erfolgt erst mit Ihrer Zustimmung durch Ihren aktiven Start des Chats im Sinne von Art. 6 Abs. 1 lit. a EU-DSGVO. Beim Start eines Chats wird ein Session Cookie gesetzt, der dazu dient, zu entscheiden, ob der Hinweis-Popup zum Chat aktiviert ist oder nicht.

Data you provide in a contact form, including your contact information, will only be saved for the purpose of processing or replying to your inquiry. This data is not shared without your prior consent.

Data entered in the contact form is only processed after you have given your consent (Article 6 paragraph 1 lit. a GDPR). You have the right to revoke your consent to the processing of your personal data at any time. To revoke your consent, please send us an email. The legality of the data processing carried out up to your revocation remains unaffected.

The data transmitted by the contact form will be deleted as soon as it is no longer needed to achieve the purpose of its collection, you request its deletion, or you revoke your consent to its storage. Mandatory statutory provisions - in particular storage periods - remain unaffected.

Matomo

Some websites additionally use the web analytics application Matomo (see www.matomo.org [https://web.archive.org/web/20200717073119/http://www.matomo.org/]) to anonymously collect web statistics, based on the qualified interest of TU Berlin in the statistical analysis of user behavior for optimization and marketing purposes according to Art. 6 (1) lit. f

Die Protokolle der Chat-Anfragen werden einmal täglich von der Universitätsbibliothek (UB) gelöscht. Falls Ihre Anfrage nicht beantwortet werden kann, erfolgt eine Weiterleitung per interner Mail an andere Mitglieder des Chat-Teams nur in Rücksprache mit Ihnen.

Contact forms

The data you send us via contact form, including your contact details, will be stored so that we can process your request or ask follow-up questions. This data will not be passed on to third parties without your consent.

The processing of the data entered in the contact form is based exclusively on your consent (Article 6 paragraph 1 lit. a EU-GDPR). A revocation of your already given consent is possible at any time. For the revocation, an informal notification by e-mail to the institution providing the respective contact form is sufficient. The legality of the data processing operations carried out until the revocation remains unaffected by the revocation.

Data transmitted via the contact form will remain with the institution contacted until there is no longer any need to store the data, you request us to delete it or revoke your consent to storage. Mandatory legal provisions - in particular retention periods - remain unaffected.

Vimeo

To share video content, our website uses plugins from the Vimeo video sharing platform, a service provided by Vimeo LLC, 555 West 18th Street, New York, New York 10011.

When a page with an integrated Vimeo plugin is called up, a connection to the Vimeo servers is not immediately established. Instead, a local image ("thumbnail") is loaded to announce the video and refers to Vimeo as a third-party provider. Users must actively start the Vimeo video. Only then does Vimeo learn the IP address of your end device and the page with Vimeo video that you have just called up, even if you are not logged into the video portal or do not have an account there.

The information collected by Vimeo is transmitted to servers of the video portal in the USA.

If you are signed into your Vimeo account, Vimeo will be able to store this information in your user account. You can prevent this by first signing out of your Vimeo account.

The use of Vimeo takes place only with your consent through your active start of the video within the meaning of Article 6 paragraph 1 lit. a GDPR.

Specific details about how user data are handled are available on Vimeo's privacy page: <https://vimeo.com/privacy>

Storage location and data usage for a specific purpose

We collect, process and store your personal data exclusively internally (usually in the computer center of the TU Berlin) only for the purpose for which you have communicated it to us and thus observe the principle of purpose-bound data use. Your personal data will not be passed on to third parties without your express consent, unless this is necessary for the provision of the service or the execution of the contract. The transfer to state institutions and authorities requesting information will also only take place within the framework of the legal obligations to provide information or if we are obliged to provide information by a court decision.

We also take the University's internal data protection very seriously. Our employees and contracted service providers are bound to confidentiality and compliance with data protection law.

Vimeo

To share video content, our website uses plugins from the Vimeo video sharing platform, a service provided by Vimeo LLC, 555 West 18th Street, New York, New York 10011.

If you visit one of our web pages featuring a Vimeo plugin, a connection to the Vimeo server is established. The server receives information about which of our web pages you have visited and your IP address, even if you are not signed in or do not have a Vimeo account.

Right to information

You can obtain information about the data we have stored about you free of charge at any time without having to give a reason. For this purpose, please contact us at the address given in the imprint. We will be happy to answer any further questions you may have about our privacy policy.

In addition, you have the right to correct, delete, restrict and transfer your data.

You also have the right to object at any time to the processing of personal data concerning you that is carried out on the basis of Article 6 paragraph 1 lit. e and f EU-GDPR. Thereafter, the institution responsible may no longer process the personal data concerning you, unless it can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override your interests, rights and freedoms, or the processing serves the purpose of asserting, exercising or defending legal claims.

Right of complaint

If you recognize any indications that we are not handling your data in a data protection-compliant manner, you can contact the Data Protection Team at Technische Universität Berlin or the supervisory authority at any time.

Of course, you also have the right to contact the supervisory authority:
